Germany Will Never Rise Again Declares Eden in Speech

Beyond severe fighting in Crete there was no war news.

The British, it was said were reinforcing their men on Crete.

Since the President's speech on Tuesday night 52,000 tons of supplies bound for Britain have been sunk it was announced by the Germans.

In Berlin a government spokesman said the President's speech was an insult to Germany.

Anthony Eden, minister for colonies made a speech Wednesday in London in which he said that among the peace aims of Britain is to impose conditions on Germany so that never again will the Reich be a menace to the world.

Germany is to be removed from all possibility of ever again becoming an aggressor nation, said Mr. Eden.

In Washington Mr. Roosevelt said that the naval patrol has been extended.

Congressman Poage Writes Frank Reply To Those Who Write Him Their Views On World Outlook; Says He Is For British Victory

Within the last few days I have received so many cards and letters relative to the matter of the use of convoys that it has become impossible for me to give each one the full and complete personal reply that I would like. Some of these communications show that the writer has given some serious consideration to the problem and that they express his personal thoughts on the matter either for or against convoys. Such communications are helpful. It is always helpful to have the views of our friends back home, and I am always happy to receive them. Only in this way can we get the benefit of the thought that all of our people have given to all phases of the terribly serious problems that are confronting our country, and there can be no question about the seriousness of the present situation.

There is a sharp disagreement between Americans as to the best policy for our country to follow. There are honest and patriotic citizens on each side of the question. Unfortunately, there are also subversive and un-American interests who are urging this country to follow policies which they feel are best suited to the welfare of the foreign interests which they represent. This latter group has no right to the consideration of any loyal American. The fact that you received this letter will be evidence regardless of any possible difference in our views that I recognize you as being sincere in your desire to aid and to protect our beloved country. If I thought that you were more interested in the

Defense Council for County Is Proposed

Organization of a Defense Council for Milam county was proposed Wednesday by M. V. Hollman, teacher of Vocational Agriculture in the Sharp High School.

His suggestion is passed along to the people. Civilian defense was recently authorized by Presidential Proclamation and while no details have as yet been given to indicate what is expected of the citizens, Mr. Hollman's suggestion is a good one and should be taken up at once by leaders in every community.

It has been suggested that a meeting be called in Cameron at some near future date for a discussion of the proposed organization.

It was understood that Defense Councils may be organized on city, community or county wide basis. President Roosevelt has indicated that every citizen will have a part in the coming national emergency which he has proclaimed.

U. S. PATROL BOMBER LOCATES FLEEING SHIP

The German 35,000 ton battleship, Bismarck, was sunk by the guns of British warships 300 miles off Brest at 10 p. m. Monday or 3 a. m. Central standard time, it was announced by the German admiralty.

The British announcement said that the Bismarck had been overtaken and sunk and no details were given.

The Bismarck sunk the British battle cruiser, Hood, off the coast of Greenland Saturday. There followed a long chase in which naval bombers using torpedo bombs took part. They trailed the Bismarck almost across the Atlantic, finally bringing the mighty ship within grasp of the British men of war.

An American made naval patrol bomber first sighted the Bismarck off the French coast and took part in the final blasting of the ship. The American made bomber was named the "Catalina" by the British. It has a cruising range of some 5000 miles.

The Bismarck was repeatedly hit by aerial torpedoes on the long flight from the scene of its battle with the Hood. Crippled, the ship was never able to elude the determined British.

All officers and men aboard the Bismarck were lost. The mighty ship fired its last round of ammunition and went down bravely, said a brief communication issued by the Germans.

The Captain of the ship sent a radio message a few hours before his ship was sunk to the German Admiralty stating that his ship was damaged and listing badly. His last words were "Long live Hitler."

Trailed by the patrol bombers the Bismarck was repeatedly hit. When the British men of war arrived within range the ship was unable to make progress and swayed about in the waters. It was reduced to bits by British fire within a few minutes and sank beneath the waters 300 miles from the harbor where two other German battleships are anchored at Brest.

The German naval command summoned all patrol ships of the air to a battle to attack the fleet that sunk the Bismarck.

Indications were the Germans would make an all out effort to blast the British fleet and so lengthen the three day battle that began with the sinking of the 42,000 ton Hood with all officers and men aboard lost.

The Bismarck was sunk at 3 a. m. Cameron time Tuesday.

So far nothing has been given out detailing the battle or how the Hood was sunk aside from the lucky shot that touched off her magazines.

The Bismarck was christened by Adolph Hitler in 1939. Germany has only three battleships left. The British have 15.

S. E. Brogdon has qualified for attendance at the 37th annual agency convention of the Southwestern Life Insurance Company to be held in Galveston, Texas, June 5, 6 and 7 according to an announcement received here today from C. F. O'Donnell president.

More than 400 persons are expected to attend the convention including 220 agents, their wives and officials of the Company. Southwestern Life representatives, by producing a specific volume of business during the previous year, win the right for themselves and their wives to attend the Company's annual convention with their expenses paid.

A program replete with discussions devoted to the business of life underwriting has been planned for the convention, President O'Donnell's announcement indicated.

A. M. Brown of Tyler will call the general convention of the Southwestern Life Club to order on Thursday June 5. Convention proceedings will include the annual address of Company President O'Donnell, and among other officials who will appear on the program are Arthur Coburn, vice president; Richard R. Lee, vice president and agency director; and Ben H. Williams CLU, director of sales.

Convention headquarters will be located at the Buccaneer Hotel, and the facilities of both the Buccaneer and Hotel Galvez will be utilized by the delegates.

More than 50 life underwriters and their wives, members of the Southwestern Life's Top Club, will assemble in Galveston on June 4 for a one day convention preceding the Company's 37th annual agency convention. The Top Club is composed of life underwriters whose annual production exceeds $200,000 of new business.

Amusement and entertainment features typical of the Port of Galveston have been planned and special entertainments have been arranged for wives of the underwriters.

A significant part of the program will be the annual banquet to be held on Friday night when annual prizes will be awarded members of the company agency force who have achieved outstanding records during the previous business year. The principal address on this occasion will be delivered by Rev. Harry Knowles, pastor of the Central Christian Church of Houston, Texas.

6000 NAZI TROOPS ARE LOST IN CRETE WATERS

Six thousand German soldiers had lost their lives in the waters about Northern Crete as the battle raged for possession of the island, it was disclosed Saturday in a report on casualties.

The Germans lost their lives when British war ships cut through and destroyed a convoy of vessels carrying men to the war in Crete.

The British said they were unable to rescue the men floating in the water because of the presence of German submarines and dive bombers.

Great Britain lost the world's largest cruiser in the battle it was officially disclosed Saturday. The Germans claimed that a number of British cruisers and destroyers have been sunk in the fierce battle around the island. The British and Greek troops on the island are without aircraft support and the Germans have undisputed mastery of the air. On the waters below is a strong concentration of British warships.

It was believed the British were throwing all their naval strength into the battle and although losses may be heavy the sacrifice was deemed necessary if the Germans are to be halted at Crete.

The British government issued communication saying that the British are holding out. This would indicate that the British are in desperate straits. The Germans have promised the capture of Crete by Sunday. There was little in the news to indicate anything unusual. The fight for Crete was the only theatre of activity.

The toll of the British navy in the battle was not announced. The Germans were making the first parachute landing for a major battle in the history of warfare.

ATTACK ON SUEZ IS NEXT DEVELOPMENT

The British are inviting another Dunkerque.

The army is evacuating Crete, it was disclosed today.

German bombing planes are concentrating heavily upon the ships and units seeking evacuation of the troops.

Little details were given. The British and Greek soldiers on the Island of Crete were evacuated from the Balkan Peninsula after the fall of Greece. Only yesterday the London government said that reinforcements were being brought up to the men on Crete. Today they are apparently running away from the island, already made untenable by superior German air forces.

It is the first major successful parachute invasion in history.

The British were said to be taking some satisfaction from their fourth exit of the war. Some 25,000 German soldiers have been slain in the battle of Crete.

The Germans were also making new successes in Egypt. They have again taken the city of Solum inside the Egyptian border.

There were indications of an immediate assault on the Suez Canal because the Germans are bringing up large numbers of troops to Crete. It is presumed they will conquer the Canal zone as they did Crete, by parachute troops.

The real battle for the Mediterranean will occur in Egypt and along both sides of the Red Sea coast. Here the British are reputed to have something like one million men. Here also will be the first point of contact of the Americans with Germany.

President Roosevelt has declared the Red Sea Coast open to shipping. Germany has said it is a combat zone. Roosevelt countered with the statement that it is up to Germany to make it a combat zone.

In Berlin Nazi government officials were giving close attention to a study of the Roosevelt speech.

The first Western Hemisphere head to pledge support to President was the President of Costa Rica who says the Nazi are thick in his country, but so are the police, he added.

In Washington the President's reference to capital and labor was taken to indicate that strikes in defense industries are on the way out; that in consequence of the Unlimited Emergency Proclamation, the President must now assume dictatorial powers with recalcitrant labor and capital groups.

No principle of National Emergency is so vital as production. It was then agreed that the President's powers would fall first in the field where munitions and supplies for war are produced.

Definitely it was expected that unity would follow the President's announced determination to wage war on Germany.

RED SEA WILL GET AMERICAN SHIPPING

It is up to Germany to keep United States ships out of the Red Sea and to prove that the American Navy cannot safely put these ships into port with merchandise and supplies from America.

So spoke President Roosevelt Friday at the first peace conference he has held in two weeks.

What the President said was: The United States has proclaimed the Red Sea coast not in the combat zone. If Germany wants to make it a combat zone then it is up to Germany to make it. The United States will not run away from a fight.

Germany several days ago proclaimed the Red Sea coast a combat zone. This was a threat to the United States. President Roosevelt has picked up the gauntlet and has flung back a challenge to Germany.

The issue, he said, is the freedom of the seas, and America has fought two undeclared wars because her commerce was interfered with.

If Mr. Roosevelt meant what he said, he has told Germany it means a fight if American shipping is molested in the Red Sea.

There was more sensational news in Washington.

President Roosevelt said that the new plan to regiment man power among civilians would be ready by Monday. Final text of the proclamation contents of which have been kept secret, was due to be completed Saturday for delivery to the President on Monday.

Briefly the new plan would seem to provide a place for everyone in the country. Just what the President will find for civilians to do was not announced. One thing was probable. The CCC camps are to be made into centers of military training.

It was expected that the new plan would be a national draft of civilians as far reaching as that of the draft for military purposes.

Great Britain Friday had won their first victory over Germany since the war began in 1939. Taking the offensive in Egypt British forces attacked and captured Salum and threw the Germans out, taking a quantity of spoils and prisoners. The British were making much of the fight for in reality it was the first time they had defeated the Germans.

Berlin spokesman said President Roosevelt is trying to make trouble. A full fledged military alliance between Germany, Russia, Turkey and France, is expected to develop shortly, said today's news.

This newspaper predicted that last week and actually announced it on Wednesday. In Washington President Roosevelt made an appeal to the French people. This was regarded as a tactical diplomatic blunder. Actually France has no army and cannot resist anyone.

Rudolph Hess was just another war prisoner today as the glamor fell away and his exploit fell apart. Actually he came to Scotland on the knowledge of Hitler. Germany wants peace. Why not?

TWO ON TRIAL FOR ATTEMPTED MURDER

Robert Halpain, charged with assault with intent to murder and under grand jury indictment, was on trial in District court here Friday.

His trial grew out of a knife attack on Roy Seaton on March 22nd on the Buckholts road near the western edge of the city.

Another development in the case was disclosed here when the grand jury returned an indictment against William Klinnard for assault with intent to murder. Klinnard is charged also with attacking Seaton.

Both men are being tried for the attack on Seaton. At the time the knife attack was reported to the Herald no mention was made of Klinnard and it was not known by this newspaper until the indictment was returned.

Camp & Camp of Cameron and Rockdale, are representing Halpain. It was said at the court house Friday that Klinnard has no attorney but will conduct his own defense.

On the night of March 22nd, the men were said to have left a beer bar not far away, walked down the road in the direction of the city. What happened thereafter may be developed in full in the trial.

Officers found Halpain on top of Seaton stabbing and cutting him with a knife. Seaton, taken to a local hospital was believed to be in a critical condition, but within a short time recovered. In all 132 stitches were taken in his wounds.

At Last, John Public Gets Recognition

At long last it has happened: A public agency has recognized the source from which come all its funds. Out in Willows, California, the school board was setting up a new athletic field. It came time to name the project, and there was the usual run of suggestions. Outstanding citizens, founding fathers of the city, prominent educational leaders—the field could be named after any of these. But board chairman James Boyd came up with the winning idea. Said he: "The taxpayers put up the money. We'll call it 'Taxpayers Field!'"

"SUN OF MY SOUL"

JOHN KEBLE

Sun of my soul! Thou Saviour dear,
It is not night if Thou be near;
Oh, may no earth-born cloud arise
To hide Thee from Thy servant's eyes!
Be near to bless me when I wake,
Ere thro' the world my way I take;
Abide with me till in Thy love
I live myself in heav'n above.

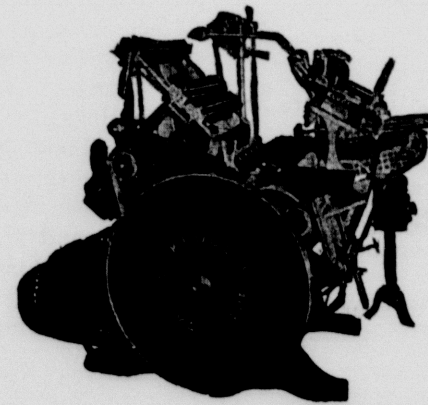

Little Stories of GREAT HYMNS

This poem, describing a benighted traveler, pushing on after the sun has set, appeared in 1827, and ever since has won the hearts of all people for its simple sincerity and love of nature. Every line illustrates the life and character of its devout and pious author.

WAR BROUGHT TO WEST HEMISPHERE SHORES

The British Battle Cruiser, Hood, largest of its type in the world, was sunk Saturday off the coast of Greenland in a naval battle with German warships.

The Hood, pride of the British navy, got a shot in the stern and blew up. It was said that all officers and men aboard were lost.

The German ship, Bismarck, thought to be of the pocket battleship type, was so badly damaged it was sinking.

The news report that the battle was still in progress indicated that other German warships and British were in the waters off Greenland.

The report of the battle was taken to indicate that the Germans have concentrated there to intercept convoys of merchant vessels carrying supplies to Britain. It was the first major naval battle off waters in the western hemisphere.

The United States recently took over Greenland. The Germans are attacking the ship lanes at their inception off the Greenland coasts.

Officers Have Line On Gun Play Here On Thursday Night

Deputy Sheriff LeRoy Massengale said Saturday developments may be expected soon in the gun play case occurring Thursday night when five men entered a local cafe.

A car number led to the identity of the men. Charges have been filed for assault with a prohibited weapon. The officers lost no time in this case. Sheriff Valter White and Deputy Carl Black were in the cafe only a few minutes before the men arrived, but having left were not able to intercept them.

One of the men placed a gun against the body of the cook and threatened him.

Local Officers Go To Government School

LeRoy Massengale, Deputy under Sheriff Valter White, Gene Smith, City Marshal and John Eanes, Deputy Marshal, were in Waco Monday to attend a meeting called by Federal Agents.

The meeting took the form of a school of instruction in which officers were told of possible service under national emergency, in the event of war.

How to handle espionage cases and the like and what to expect under certain conditions were discussed. It was a district meeting with FBI men and peace officers attending.

"Now You're Cooking With Gas" has been publicized often on a nation-wide basis by comic strips and many top-flight radio comedians. But few who have heard the slogan know where it originated.

The expression is an old one used by vaudeville and theatrical people to indicate when they had "arrived" or when they had become established as leaders in their profession. In other words, "Now You're Cooking With Gas" meant the performer was appearing in communities where gas, instead of coal or wood, was used for cooking.

Thousands OF FOLKS FROM "ALL WALKS OF LIFE" HAVE GONE MODERN

Little did those who originated the tribute, "Now You're Cooking with Gas," realize that in 1941 hundreds of thousands of people in the Southwest could proudly answer, "Yes, we, too, are cooking with gas." Moreover, many of these homes now use this low-cost modern service to the exclusion of all other fuels for water heating, house heating and refrigeration as well as cooking.

Proudly we say to you, our customers, "Now You're Cooking with Gas" ... and add this all-important fact: your dependable gas service is supplied by a 4,800-mile interconnected pipe line system reaching out to more than 1,200 wells in sixty fields.

success of any foreign nation than in the welfare of the United States, I would not waste a sheet of paper to reply to you, but I recognize that your communication was prompted by your sincere interest in the welfare of America.

Any honest American has a right to know the views of his Representative on matters of such tremendous importance as those now confronting our country, and I feel that any Representative worthy of the name will at all times welcome the views of his people whether he agrees with them or not. In view of the number of the communications that I have had and the impossibility of making a separate personal reply to each, it becomes necessary for me to attempt to give general answers. In the last two or three days I have received dozens of cards chiefly from citizens of German extraction stating,—"I am opposed to convoys, and I am also against entrance of the United States in offensive foreign wars." I personally know many of the people who have written these cards. They are upright, honorable and loyal Americans. I do not question the sincerity of their views. I can also very well understand how those of German descent would naturally feel less alarmed over the spreading German control over the world than other Americans might feel, but I am sure that no American citizen whether he be of German descent or not, would want this country to become a part of Hitler's "New Order." Any American citizen who wants that should immediately go to Germany and join the Nazi military machine, but to those citizens who are honestly alarmed at the course the United States is following and who are interested in the welfare of the United States above everything else, I want to speak frankly and fairly.

No one wants to see the United States go to war. I don't think I know a man in Congress who would not like to see the United States able to avoid war. Many members of Congress feel that it may not be possible to avoid war, but I am sure that every one of them is willing to do everything that he can to try to avoid it, and as for an offensive foreign war this country is certainly never going to engage in that if you mean by an offensive war the attack on some other country to take what they have such as Italy made on Ethiopia, such as Japan made on China, and such as Germany so recently made on Yugoslavia. Of course, if you mean by offensive war, a war in which the United States is going to defend itself a long distance from our shores that is an entirely different thing.

In the last one hundred years Germany has never fought on German soil. Yet she claims to have defended herself in a number of instances. I certainly can see no reason for the United States to fight on American soil. If we must fight, certainly I would rather see someone else furnish the battlefield. I am not, however ready to admit that we must fight. Certainly the United States is not going to war at any time because we want to. If we go to war, it will be solely because the European dictators have decided that they want us to be at war. I can not believe that they are going to force us into war until such time as they feel that they have a reasonable opportunity to destroy us. It would be indeed difficult, and I think utterly impossible, for them to destroy the United States as long as Great Britain and China continue their defense. These two Democracies can continue to protect the United States by defending themselves so long as we give them material aid which they need. It is therefore as I see it to the selfish advantage of the United States to give all possible aid to Great Britain and China right now and without any delay, without any limitations and without counting the cost. It is to our advantage to do so because it protects the United States from attack. I say this because all three of the Totalitarian nations, Japan, Germany and Italy as well as their Communistic ally Russia, have announced their firm intention of controlling the world.

The Government of the United States through the adoption of the Lend-Lease Bill has gone on record as favoring this policy. We have announced to the world that we were going to aid the Democracies. To the Democracies this has been a promise. To the dictators it has been a threat. Are we now going to break our promise to the Democracies? Are we going to be bluffed out of taking this action by Japanese politicians or Italian newspapermen? Certainly our situation has not changed since the passage of this Bill. If in February it was wise for the United States to give material aid to the Democracies, it is certainly still the wise policy to follow. If it is wise for us to spend seven billion dollars of American money to produce the supplies Great Britain needs, it is certainly a foolish and a useless thing to let them pile up on the docks in New York or sink to the bottom of the North Atlantic. Munitions and supplies are worth nothing to Great Britain unless they reach their destination.

I think that as a Representative of the American people, I owe a sacred obligation to do everything I can to protect the American people from the horrors of war. I am definitely and completely convinced that this is the only possible way whereby the United States can avoid war. Certainly if Great Britain and China win the struggle they are now carrying on, the United States stands in no danger of attack. On the other hand, should the Democracies be defeated, I can conceive of no reason to justify the belief that the victorious dictators then in control of all the old world would hesitate for one moment to attack the United States. Why should they? Adolph Hitler himself stated that this was not a war between nations, but between "systems of government." He has promised his people the material things of life such as bread, butter, beef, oil, copper, etc., if they can but destroy the British Empire. Suppose he is successful in conquering Great Britain and in taking over the British fleet. It would not put any bread and butter on German tables. German industry would still be without the copper, oil and iron ore that it needs. German people and the people of all Europe would still be without any meat on their tables. Hitler would be faced with the necessity of making good on his promises. How could he make good? The only possible way would be for him to take these things that he has promised to his people from the Americas (North and South.)

I know that it will be said he will then buy these things from us and that the trade will be mutually advantageous. But, it is ownership, not the right to buy that the dictators want. Italy has always had the right to buy in Ethiopia. Japan had the right to buy in Manchuria. Germany had the right to buy in Czechoslovakia and in all the British colonies. They have all always had the right to buy in the United States and in South America. The right to buy is not the kind of "living space" that the dictators claim. But suppose we could satisfy them with such a right. Such transactions would of necessity involve the exchange of goods. There is nothing like enough gold to support such a trade and Americans would be required to accept foreign made goods. Therefore, the only basis on which it could be conducted would be that of barter. That means we would be forced to accept the products of not simply the cheap labor, nor even of coolie labor, but of slave labor of Poland, Belgium, France, England and other conquered nations working without wages or for worthless paper for the Nazis. What would happen to the American standard of living? How long can you compete with the forced labor of conquered prisoners and provide for your family? In other words, the very force of the big German war machine will keep it rolling. Its lack of food, supplies and economic strain in Europe rather than protecting the United States will prove a most powerful force in hastening military action against us.

Nor can we assume that the conquerors of Europe will sit idly by while we complete our domestic rearmament. We have advertised to all the world that we are undertaking a great program of rearmament that will take five or six years to complete. In the meantime, we must defend two oceans, and the United States has but one fleet. If we do not fear a German attack, supported of course by Japan on the Pacific, why do we spend billions for armaments? Certainly we do not fear that we may be attacked by Ecuador, or that we may be conquered by the brave little Finns. Neither are we spending these billions to protect ourselves from Great Britain. For twenty years our fleet has been on the Pacific Ocean, and during all that time the British have had a navy on the Atlantic capable of shelling every Eastern seaboard city including Galveston and Corpus Christi before we could move a force through the Canal to resist them. But we have felt no fear so long as Great Britain controlled the Atlantic because we know that the ideals and objectives of the British involved no conflict with our own.

Let us then be fair and honest with ourselves. Why do we arm? If we do not fear the dictators and the "New Order of Violence," then there would be no sense in spending our money, and the present expenditures would be worse than foolish, they would be criminal. But, we do know why we arm—and so do Hitler and the war lords of Japan. Certainly if the present armament program is justified and necessary, and I most emphatically believe that it is both justified and necessary, it is because of the danger to the United States of a German and Japanese victory. If such a danger exists it is not common sense to take the most obvious and practical steps to prevent it before it occurs?

I think such a danger exists, and I am therefore in favor of doing everything that we can to protect the United States from that danger. A British victory will protect us. I am, therefore for a British victory. I am in favor of giving Great Britain all possible material aid now, as the best method of protecting the United States further down the line. It is true that our aid may be both too little and too late, but it is a chance we must take. Our failure to aid Britain would surely lessen our chances of avoiding war. A British victory will mean we will escape the horrors of war. A British defeat is, as I see it, absolutely certain to lead us into war—into a war that we will have to fight alone and unaided. I cannot sit idly by and see my country drift into such an unhappy situation.

Even if our aid does not assure a British victory it will at least have given us more time, and time is the thing we most desperately need in our defense program just now. Personally, I believe that with prompt action on our part Great Britain will still win, and if she does we will be safe. We will spend only American money, not American lives. I would much rather spend money now than lives later.

I realize that there are those who say, and doubtless in good faith believe, that even though Britain were defeated, and even though dictators desired to destroy the United States, that the Great oceans on either side would protect us. These people generally cite the inability of the Germans to cross the twenty-two miles of water in the English Channel. For us to assume that the Atlantic Ocean gives us any defense in event of the defeat of Great Britain is a dangerous illusion. The Atlantic Ocean would be but a broad highway over which the captured British fleet would move with ease to attack our eastern seaboard. It may be suggested that we would in the meantime move the American fleet from the Pacific Ocean to the Atlantic and thereby place ourselves in a position to defend our eastern coast. This could, undoubtedly, be done, and it is entirely possible that we might be able to successfully defend our eastern coast, but if we did this, we would leave the Pacific and our western coast entirely unprotected. We would give Japan the opportunity that she has sought for generations. We would necessarily expect a Mongolian invasion through the Golden Gate. You can not defend two coasts with one navy. We have always had two coasts, but heretofore we have had two navies to defend them. The American navy has protected our western coast and the British navy has protected our eastern coast. If Great Britain is defeated because the United States refuses to give her aid, there is no reason in the world to suppose that the British fleet will not be surrendered to the dictators. It will be foolish to think otherwise. With the British fleet, what is left of the French fleet, and the Italian and German fleets, the dictators would have a naval force on the Atlantic superior to our entire fleet. It is not the twenty-two miles of water that keeps Hitler from invading Great Britain today. It is the superior naval force that Great Britain has on that water. If Hitler had a naval force powerful enough to control that twenty-two miles of water, there would be no barrier whatever.

The same is true of the 2,000 miles of water in the North Atlantic. The water is not a barrier. The fleets that sail that water made it a barrier or highway dependent only upon who controls the naval forces.

Finally, there are those who suggest that we should attempt to satisfy or appease the dictators and thereby stop the war and forget all about the people of Czechoslovakia, of Poland, of Norway, Belgium, Holland, etc. These people want the United States to put pressure on Great Britain to stop her heroic fight, to let China go the way of Ethiopia and Greece have gone, to leave the French to their present unhappy plight, to buy a few months, or at most a year or two, of armistice, to give the dictators an opportunity to consolidate their gains, strengthen their ties with the Soviets and to prepare themselves for the final destruction of Great Britain and the United States.

Such a peace would of course break the British blockade, the most effective weapon left in the hands of the Democracies. It would of course nullify the British victories in Africa. It would end free government in China. It would leave Japan with no worries in the rear, ready to give her full attention to the destruction of the United States. It would offer the opportunity for Germany and Italy to replenish their oil supplies and to regain mastery of the Mediterranean. I do not mean that all of those who advocate appeasement foresee all of these dangers. Of course, some of them foresee what would happen and unfortunately some of them want it to happen, but I take it that the great majority of the American appeasers are just like their counterparts in Europe. They still believe the promises of the man who has never destroyed a people without first violently insisting to all the world that he had no designs and no purpose to do the thing that he then did. I am sure that the Dutch and the Belgian officials who so carefully refused to even consult with the Allied commanders relative to common resistance should a German invasion come sincerely believed that by this policy of honesty and neutrality they might stay the hand of the "New Order." I have no such confidence in the man who himself has written that war is deceit. On the contrary, when I read the history of the recent past, I can but know that our only safety in America and our only protection from the horrors of war which we all fear, lies in frank recognition of the facts as they exist, and a practical common sense policy of aid to those who stand between us and danger. I hope as devoutly as any American that the United States may be spared participation in this or any other war, but I am not going to attempt to buy peace at the price of the freedom of the world. Believing in the justice of a righteous God, and the good sense and courage of the American people, I am convinced that the dictators and the appeasers will be defeated and destroyed even though it takes undetermined sacrifices to accomplish this desired aim.

Of course, I may be wrong in my conclusions. I claim no superior ability to foresee events in the future, but I do feel a terrible sense of responsibility for the welfare of my nation. I welcome every suggestion that is made in good faith and based upon sincere thought and study. I want all the information I can get, but I know that you will want and expect me to follow the conclusions of my own mind and conscience after having secured all available information.

Thanking you for your interest in this question, which is of such vital importance to all of us, and with best wishes, I am

WITH THE BAPTIST

Our church is a factory set run for spiritual purposes. Like the business man we rejoice when we have had a good week's run. Two hundred and eighty-four happy, smiling faces moved into their places in our Sunday School last Sunday. A good size congregation heard the pastor preach on the New Testament militant spirit that is needed today. Sixty-nine were in attendance at Training Union. This was good considering that there was no preaching service Sunday night. Our offering Sunday amounted to $156.86 for which we are grateful, but this is short about $40 of our actual needs.

Pastor spoke to the Graduating Class at Buckholts Sunday night. Mr. Horstmann and his people are doing a great work there.

Mr. Carl Cain met the Executive heads of each Training Union Monday night. Someone said, "You can't teach an old dog new tricks." Maybe not, but I thank God that our adult leaders are not dogs, and open to new tricks in the business of leading God's people in new fields of service.

Vacation Bible School organization is being set for June 6-20. A big parade is being planned for June 6th. A parade committee and a lemonade committee is being appointed this week.

Can Cameron Churches reach all the people? We as Baptists are out to do our best. Be with us and study Bible lesson entitled "Living Up To Our Christian Name" Sunday morning.

11:00 Worship Service, Sermon "The Reward of the Faithful," Matt. 25:14. 6:41 Training Union. Be with us. If we are to win the victory for our Lord, we must have trained soldiers!

7:45 Worship Service, Sermon "What Makes a Soldier?" Rom. 13:12. Redeeming Love Demands our Gratitude!

The NYA will close down here June 2nd for a month, opening up again about July 3rd. Mrs. Dixie White, local supervisor, will return for a few days during the vacation, to look after their yard gardens and grounds. The girls who have been in the home, will have a vacation. Mrs. White has made many friends here who will be pleased when she returns and to welcome the girls back.

Gun Play at Cafe
Sets Officers on
Trail of Five Men

Officers here were looking for five men today as a result of gun play at a local cafe Tuesday night.

A car in which the men were riding may be identified by license plate numbers, jotted down.

The men entered a cafe and went to the back where an open space to the rear of the cafe attracted them. The cook at the cafe asked the men not to go back after they had repeatedly passed through the kitchen.

One of the men pulled a revolver and held it against the cook's stomach. He continued to threaten the cook through a window as the men made their way to the car and raced away.

B. M. McMillon of Buckholts was a business visitor in Cameron Saturday.

Jim Stewart of Milano spent Friday in Cameron on business.

RAEDER'S WARNING MAY MOVE WASHINGTON

President Roosevelt Monday cast aside a prepared address for his talk to the nation on Tuesday night, it was learned shortly after noon and due to developments in the past 48 hours may have something more to say than was first indicated.

Stephen T. Early, Secretary to the President, told Washington newspaper men Monday that the President had thrown aside a speech on which he had spent much time in preparation. This he said was dictated by rapidly changing events.

Sunday it was said that a New York publisher had been called to the White House to assist the President in boiling down a 23 page manuscript for delivery in 40 minutes. Even after that had been done the speech was thrown overboard.

Usually informed sources in Washington expressed the belief that the President was deeply moved by events, the last of which was the blunt warning by Admiral Raeder, head of the German navy who said that if the United States takes up convoy of supplies to Britain it means war with Germany.

In the far east Japan had seized Ten Million Dollars of worth of motor trucks and tires consigned to China. In addition Japan warns that if oil is cut off the Japanese will take what they need.

It was believed that the President has been forced to abandon his pre-arranged text because it would no longer fit in. He said several days ago that the foreign policy of the United States is made up from hour to hour in a rapidly changing world.

Germany's determination to prevent passage of war supplies to Britain together with Axis victories has placed the United States squarely up against a background of grave decision. What the President may now say could be momentous.

The Daily Herald heard that Germany and Turkey have signed an agreement, the nature of which may mean free passage of troops through Turkey for attack on the Suez Canal.

The campaign in Crete was said by the Germans to be growing to a close. The Germans have lost 10,000 soldiers in the Crete campaign thus far but this sacrifice was considered small in comparison to the strategic value of the island.

King George of Greece who fled to Crete after the collapse of Greece, was routed from his home by parachute troops. Mounting a wild ass he fled across the plain and into the mountains as did Absalom of old. But for the advantage of a good barber he might have suffered the fate of David's son. The King is now in Egypt but the Nazis are also in Egypt. He was the last of the European kings unfriendly to Hitler.

The battle in Irak was still raging with the British enjoying a temporary advantage. If German troops are permitted to pass through Turkey the entire near east will fall to Russia and Germany.

The German battleship Bismarck was believed safely in port and to have escaped the British. The ship sunk British cruiser Hood and escaped. The German ship ran away from other British warships and was believed to have reached a port somewhere in Norway or skirted around to Helsinki.

POWERS CHAPEL GRAVES ARE DECORATED BY ASSOCIATION

Powers Chapel Memorial Association held their annual program at the Chapel ground Sunday, May 25. A program was given consisting of several speakers, songs and band music. The cemetery is near by and all graves were decorated either with flags or flowers, or both. The association was organized 20 years ago, and is kept up with private donations and dues of those who are members. There are 1960 graves in the cemetery, and 21 of these have been added since January 1941. It is one of the best kept cemeteries in central Texas. People attended from many different states, and have for several years. Among those attending from Cameron were: Mrs. R. H. Johnson, Miss Susan Pope, Judge and Mrs. Jeff T. Kemp, Misses Delphya Scott, Mary Frances Allen, H. B. McClellan, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kuehl and daughter, Miss Carrie Bill.

Mrs. Bob Barnett and two sons David and Bobby Barnett, have returned to their home after spending about two weeks here visiting her mother, Mrs. L. Bigbee.

Gene Roach and Milton Lumpkin of Baylor Waco, visited with Mrs. Guy T. Newton Sunday.

Blake Conoley of Watson Branch transacted business Monday.

Barbarians hungered for land!

Four hundred years the Roman Empire flourished; centuries of luxury had softened them, and their security had already begun to ebb when the Vandals swept over the Alps to feast upon the excesses which to them had become fabulous. But it was more than lustful greed that drew the northern hordes to sunny Italy—it was the fundamental hunger for LAND, the same hunger that has motivated man throughout the ages....

LAND IS WEALTH

The desire to own land is basic in man—no commodity, no other form of wealth, serves to supply man with the spiritual satisfaction that comes of being a "landowner." Invest your savings in real estate—know the pride of owning property.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 1.

The Golden Text is: "There is no wisdom nor understanding nor counsel against the Lord." (Proverbs 21:30.)

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Those things, which ye have both learned, and received and heard, and seen in me, do; and the God of peace shall be with you." (Philippians 4:9.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "And we solemnly promise to watch and pray for that Mind to be in us which was also in Christ Jesus; to do unto others as we would have them do unto us; and to be merciful, just and pure."
